24 in running for presidential posts of college councils

Srishti Jaswal

■ chandigarh@hindustantimes.com

CHANDIGARH: According to the final list of candidates for the Panjab University Students' Council (PUCSC) elections released on Friday, as many as 24 candidates are fighting for the post of president of student council in a total of nine city colleges affiliated to PU. For the post of vice-president, 22 students are in line, while for the posts of secretary and joint secretary, 24 and 19 students are in fray.

Out of the 24 presidential candidates, 13 are women while for the post of vice-president, secretary and joint secretary 14, 16 and 7 women are fighting, respectively. It is to be noted that till date, the Panjab University student council has never been headed by a woman president.

At DAV College, Sector 10, Goswami Ganesh Dutta Sanatan Dharma (GGDS) College, Sector 32, and Post Graduate Government College (PGGC), Sector 11, not even a single woman presidential candidate made it to the final list. All woman candidates withdrew their nominations from the post of president in these colleges.

NO CANDIDATE FROM GCCBA, SECTOR 50

No candidate from the Government College for Commerce and Business Administration (GCCBA), Sector 50, made it to the final list for all the four posts as nomination of all candidates from the college were rejected on Thursday owing to non-fulfil-

KHALSA COLLEGE LIST ON HOLD AMID PROTEST

A major protest erupted after the nomination of College Student Front (CSF) was cancelled by the election committee at Sri Guru Gobind Singh College, Sector 26, which is also known as Khalsa College.

The candidature of Sarvottam Rana was cancelled after it was given a go-ahead by the scrutiny committee.

Rana, a student of BA second year, was the presidential face of a major alliance in the college involving CSF, HPSU (Himachal Pradesh Students' Union) and HSA (Hindustan Students' Association). After his nomination was cancelled, all parties on campus except KCSU (Khalsa College Students' Union) protested, following which the college authorities have put the final list of candidates on hold.

Deepak Kundu, founder of CSF, said, "First the election commission announced that Sarvottam is eligible, but now they told us that he cannot contest the elections as he has two backlogs in his second-semester exams."

The dean students' welfare of the college could not be contacted for comments.

PU POLLS

SANDEEP RANA
TRIBUNE NEWS SERVICE

CHANDIGARH, AUGUST 31

Call it uninterested authorities of colleges or adhering to the Lyngdoh Committee guidelines that students in some city colleges will not contest or vote in the students' union elections.

Instance: Government College of Commerce and Business Administration (GCCBA), Sector 50, will have no council polls as nominations of all 28 candidates for four posts — president, vice-president, secretary and joint secretary — was found ineligible on the account of attendance shortage by the college authorities.

In MCM DAV College, Sector 36, it is apparently a direct appointment for the posts of the president and the vice-president as the candidature of all girls was not considered. While for the post of the joint secretary, no candidate was found eligible by the college committee. Only for the post of the secretary, five girls will contest. Even at the Government College for Girls, Sector 11, only two candidates each for four posts have been declared eligible.

Showing unity, different student unions got together, pitching for elections. Aviral Parnamia, Chairman, Gandhi Group Student Union, GCCBA, said: "We worked hard whole year for elections and all our efforts are futile now. If there is no student council, who will raise the voice of students?"

Tushar Dhingra, Chairman, Hindustan Student Union, shared: "We faced problems in the first year and want that freshers do not face them. So, we want to be their representatives in a democratic setup. Authorities could have found a way out."

However, GCCBA principal Dr Manjit Kaur said: "We followed the Lyngdoh guidelines in letter and spirit. According to them, none of the students had 75 per cent attendance. We wanted to give them grace in attendance, but there were several complaints from parties."

Though no council elections will be held, there will be polling for eight class representative (CR) posts while seven were elected unopposed in the college on Friday.

Dr Nisha Bhargava, Principal, MCM College, said: "It is up to students how many of them want to take part. We had only one candidate each for president and vice-president posts." However, students said many of them wanted to take part, but they were discouraged by the college authorities. "We do not want you to make unions or raise slogans on the campus, we were told this," said a group of students.

However, Jyotsna Narang, only president candidate in the MCM, said: "There must have been many candidates, but they have not qualified. I have been seeking support from students. Now, I know that I happen to be the only candidate."

UT education dept plans to begin evening colleges

HIGH DEMAND In courses like BCom, 60% of applicants did not get through

Srishti Jaswal

srishti.jaswal@hntv.com

CHANDIGARH: The UT education department has been contemplating the idea of starting evening colleges for students, using the existing infrastructure available, in the city.

The UT has five government colleges and seven aided colleges where the evening classes can be conducted.

The move is to accommodate the increasing number of students in Chandigarh, most of whom are from neighbouring states of Haryana, Punjab and Himachal Pradesh. For the academic session 2018-2019, around 64.51 % students in BCom, 83.09 % in BBA and 51.50 % in BCA were denied admission due to non-availability of seats.

An official of Post Graduate Government College, Sector 11, on the condition of anonymity, said the idea was viable as it would help in accommodating students using the existing infrastructure. "College campuses are usually empty by 4 in evening. In metro cities like Bombay and Delhi, colleges run two to three shifts in a day. The education department can begin the pilot program in at least one college to test the idea," said the official.

Requesting anonymity, a teacher of Post Graduate Government College for Girls, Sector-11, said infrastructure and

ROADBLOCKS IN THE WAY:

Deciding the courses and classes: To float evening colleges the department will have to narrow down the courses, subjects, and classes keeping into consideration the requirement of students.

Creation of Posts: After deciding the courses, for employing teaching faculty the department will have to seek approval from MHRD and the Ministry of finance.

Affiliation from PU: The Education Department will have to seek affiliation from Panjab University after fulfilling the necessary criteria.

human resources were the two primary requirements to begin any new college. "The colleges around Chandigarh have quality infrastructure to start the project. However, the only problem faced by the department is generation of new posts. It is a difficult task and requires approval from the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) and Ministry of Human Resource Development (MHRD)," said the teacher.

"On an average, a government teacher is paid ₹70,000 per month and rise in number of teachers due to beginning of evening colleges will put a financial strain over the UT administration," the teacher added.

NOT FEASIBLE FROM SESSION 2019-20

A department official said, "The education department will have to apply for the affiliation from Panjab University for the opening of the evening colleges. However, the date of affiliation for 2019-2020 sessions is now over."

For seeking affiliation from PU for the new courses or colleges, the applicants need to apply before October 31 every year, he said.

The official further said, "Practically, the idea of evening college will come into force only during 2020-2021 academic session. The department will have to send an application before October 31, 2019 so the varsity and its college affiliation committee can scrutinise it on various parameters including faculty, student strength, timings, and infrastructure."

BL Sharma, education secretary, said the idea of running the evening classes in colleges to accommodate more aspirants can be considered by the administration. But it will necessitate the creation of posts, for which approval of PU, MHRD and the ministry of finance under Government of India, is important, he said. BL Sharma further said the entire process will take a long time. However, as a long term measure, such a proposal deserves consideration, he added.

Sanjay Kaushik, dean, college development council, Panjab University, said, "This is a welcome step, however, we will have to be careful that we provide same facilities both for morning and evening colleges." For affiliation, the evening colleges will have to go through the same norms and procedures as other colleges, said the dean.

If the evening colleges are floated in the city, it will further increase the gross enrolment ratio (GER) of the UT, which is already the highest at 56.4 per centile in comparison to 25.6 per centile national averages, he added.
